European Centre for Modern Languages of the Council of Europe

Promoting excellence in language education

Centre Européen pour les Langues Vivantes du Conseil de l'Europe

Pour l'excellence dans l'éducation aux langues

The screenshot shows the ECML website homepage. At the top is a navigation bar with links: NEWS, ABOUT US, THEMES, TRAINING & CONSULTANCY, PROGRAMME, and RESOURCES. A search bar and language selector (FR) are on the right. Below the navigation bar is a large banner image of a young woman looking to the side. Overlaid on the banner are the ECML logo (a circular diagram with letters E, C, M, L, V) and the Council of Europe logo. The text 'European Centre for Modern Languages of the Council of Europe' and 'Promoting excellence in language education' is displayed. Below the banner is a grid of 12 colored boxes, each representing a different area of focus: Language teacher competences, Migration and language education, Sign languages, Plurilingual education, New media in language education, Mobility and intercultural learning, Evaluation and assessment, Employment and languages, Early language learning, Content and language integrated learning, Languages of schooling, and CEFR and ELP. Below the grid is a section titled 'European Centre for Modern Languages of the Council of Europe' with a paragraph describing the ECML's mission and vision. At the bottom of the screenshot are three buttons: 'Member states', 'ECML Training &', and 'European Day of'. To the right of these buttons is a video player interface with language options: Français, English, and Deutsch.

Information and communication technologies in vocationally oriented language learning

New technologies have become the predominant influence on the way we live and work at the beginning of the new millennium. The aim of the ICT in VOLL project was to consider the potential new technologies have to offer for the creation of innovative learning environments for language training for professional and specific (vocationally oriented) purposes.

Available in English.

ODYSSEUS – Second language at the workplace: Language needs of migrant workers: organising language learning for the vocational/workplace context

This book is constructed around a conviction by the authors of the key role of vocational and workplace-related second language provision towards social and economic integration and participation. Knowledge and communicative competences have become pivotal elements of vocational and professional performance at all hierarchical levels for all employees (mother-tongue speakers and speakers of other languages). This publication, which is the result of a cooperation project between the Council of Europe and the European Commission, is an invaluable resource for current and intending workplace language practitioners, as well as company personnel, unions and policy makers.

Available in English and French.

A pluriliteracies approach to teaching for learning

A pluriliteracies approach builds on CLIL approaches to help learners become better meaning-makers, who can draw on content knowledge to communicate successfully across languages, disciplines and cultures. In this way it promotes deep learning and helps develop responsible, global citizens.

Available in English and German (German coming soon)

Language skills for successful subject learning. CEFR-linked descriptors for mathematics and history/civics (Language Descriptors)

These resources highlight challenges for young learners in subject classes where the language of instruction is not their first language. The focus is on minimum language standards in history/civics and mathematics for learners aged 12/13 and 15/16. The language descriptors are linked to CEFR levels A2, B1 and B2 and available in six languages.
